Spread the Word article for MAESA Matters Newsletter, April 2018

St. Paul's Nursery & Day School was founded seventy years ago in 1948 with the belief that a child's natural curiosity and love of play provide an ideal framework for learning. We believe that the years between three and six are the most intensely productive of a child's life. St. Paul's children have the opportunity to be challenged, to pace themselves and to excel in ways that fit their own unique development. As we celebrate our seventieth birthday, we are proud that this philosophy has never changed. Our program still serves three year old to five year old children, encompassing a wide variety of activities and learning opportunities designed to meet the needs of each individual child. Our curriculum fosters all aspects of a child's emotional, physical, social and intellectual development. It features an integrated, hands-on approach to learning. St. Paul's strives for a balance between the development of language skills, social skills and perceptual/motor skills with art, music, movement, dramatic play, science, cooking, field trips and experimentation.
